Dear Mr. Wmggler

Sorry I can't be of any help.

My health problems preclude any searching and the documents I published in facsimile are filed away with the original copy of the books.

The spectrographic analysis papers to which you refer, in addition to what I published, are much too voluminous for me to be able to copy them.

The Zapruder film can be obtained legally only with permission. Requests for copies should be addressed to the National Archives, which can route it for clearance. I've forgotten how to get in touch with Zapruder's son, who makes the decision and fixes the high price. Illegal copies are available but I do not know from whom.

In making requests of the FBI it is important to make very clear what you want. The law says you ask for "identifiable" records and if you are not very clear they can claim "not identifiable."

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
